across. Facebook is reporting that its second quarter quarterly results were way stronger than expected, as the social network saw double-digit gains in both users and in total revenue. Facebook reported that it had 2.28 billion monthly active users at the end of the second quarter, up 13 percent over the previous quarter. That's a monthly increase of 1.2 million, even as the social network continued to add more people to its ranks. The company saw double-digit growth in both revenues and earnings, with total revenue of $2.7 billion up 14 percent, while earnings per share was $1.18, up a whopping 45 percent. This is good news for Facebook, but it's important to consider the numbers in the context of Facebook's past quarterly results. Last year, Facebook said it had 1.32 billion monthly active users at the end of the second quarter, up from 1.1 billion the year prior. Its revenues and earnings were also up: total revenues were $5.8 billion, up 24 percent, and earnings per share were $2.24, up nearly 50 percent. That's a solid result, but it was a far cry from Facebook's first quarter of 2017, when it 6d1f23a050
