How would you like to experience the best of ultra-HD in your Web-surfing? It's Allbuntu, that new Ubuntu version that is brimming with applications ready to launch you right into the unknown of high-quality multimedia. Allbuntu ISO (all-buntu-13.10-raring-amd64.iso) uses the original Ubuntu installation media and prepares a full installation of a brand-new version that is geared to accommodate the fastest and most powerful HD multimedia web browsing. It's named after the way it doesn't use any themes and maintains the original Ubuntu's icons, layout, and colors. In short, this version will make you experience a speedier, smoother, and more versatile browsing that will also deliver you some ultra-HD content in no time. Allbuntu will also feature the option to have an XBMC custom skin and other applications installed, which will make your computer look like a slick Plex media player. It's all about the control panel that you will get right after the installation. So, if you are looking for a version of Ubuntu that is specifically designed for multimedia purposes, then this is the one for you! Allbuntu ISO (all-buntu-13.10-raring-amd64.iso) has been released in just a few days after the original Ubuntu version 13.10 release. It's not exactly ready for public use, and you may run into issues with the applications available. But, it's still an amazing Ubuntu flavor that you won't be able to live without. The sheer number of applications available makes Allbuntu the most amazing version of Ubuntu for anyone that loves to surf, play, and explore the internet in high quality.
