"I like this unit, I have two and love them. It's so convenient to have it in the living room and leave it on. The rechargeable batteries last much longer than the ones in the house and the lcd display is really neat to watch. The only thing that I would change is the unit would be more user friendly. There is no clear instructions on how to operate it (aside from turning it on and off) so it's tough to tell what buttons to push to get different hands displayed. This only took about 15 minutes to game allows you to play two hands at once, the first hand on one board and the second hand on another board. When it comes time to play your second hand, simply turn 2edc1e01e8 the paper until they came to a stop. In the fMRI experiments, movement-related activities were observed in the hand areas of the left and right motor cortices. Both TMS and BOLD-fMRI demonstrated a significant increase in the ipsilateral motor cortex activity with handwriting. However, no significant differences were observed in the ipsilateral motor cortex activity between the "click-and-hold" and "ink-type" conditions. These results suggest that the motor cortex plays a significant role in the control of handwriting movement.

Binding of complement proteins to cis-diol-containing bovine serum albumin. The interaction of the serum proteins C1q, C2, and C4 with bovine serum albumin (BSA) was investigated. C2, C4, and to a lesser extent C1q bound to BSA through specific binding sites as judged by the ability of the ligand to inhibit binding of <sup>125</sup>I-labeled C1q, C2, or C4 to immobilized BSA. BSA was found to have two binding sites with distinct C1q binding constants,  $K_1 = 1.02 \times 10^9 \text{ M}^{-1}$  and  $K_2 = 1.9 \times 10^5 \text{ M}^{-1}$ . C2 and C4 bound to the BSA-C1q complex with  $K_1$  values of  $1.7 \times 10^8 \text{ M}^{-1}$  and  $5.2 \times 10^7 \text{ M}^{-1}$ , respectively. As judged by their ability to inhibit binding of <sup>125</sup>I-labeled
