A new feature that is sure to prove to be a valuable addition to Photoshop's features is the latest remake of the Content Aware Fill feature introduced in Lightroom 5. A content aware fill tool will actually replace sections of an image by pulling from nearby content to fill the blank space. This new feature also enhances the Photomerge, which is a cross-process feature utilizing the Content Aware Fill feature. A feature that has been released before Lightroom 5 but now can be used within Photoshop is the ability to edit your RAW photos with Adobe Camera Raw. By clicking on the Analyze Image button, you can make minor modifications to your RAW photos and integrate them with the rest of the image using the sliders. Instead of downloading the entire image as a new file and saving it, it's a good way of getting a finished, well-thought-out photo. When you use the new Content-Aware Fill Tool, the cropped content will be replaced with the nearby sections whose content is closest to the missing content. After you set your preferences, the tool checks each local area within a file you're using to fill the missing content. It uses the content from other areas of the image that is similar to fill in for the missing content. It has a few more features that are useful, such as creating a content-aware crop, giving a visual impression of the completed fill, and a mask that lets you select the areas you don't want to fill. It's a great way to get the best of both worlds by adding the finishing touches to your images.
