A: Your question is not crystal clear, but it looks like there is nothing that needs to be done in order to get data back from Access 2007. The back-end of your query is set up perfectly to insert data into an Access table. Unless you have some other tables that you are writing to, and thus need data from that one, you'll be fine. ` @return the received echo */ public String getEcho() { return this.echo; }
/ * Set the received echo.  @param echo the received echo to set * @return the ChannelMultiplex */ public ChannelMultiplex setEcho(String echo) { this.echo = echo; return this; }
/ * Get the ids associated with this call.  @return the ids */ public List getIds() { return this.ids; }
/ * Set the ids associated with this call.  @param ids the ids  @return the ChannelMultiplex */ public ChannelMultiplex setIds(List ids) { this.ids = ids; return this; }
/ * Get the dest, which must be empty when this is a normal call.  @return the dest */ public String getDest() { return this`
